Wisdom from St. Francis de Sales

“The means of overcoming anger are:

1. Forestall such feelings as much as possible, or at least banish them at once by thinking of something else.
2. In imitation of the Apostles when the storm arose on the sea, have recourse to God, Who will restore peace to your heart.
3. While you are boiling, do not talk nor offer any opposition concerning the point in question.
4. Strive to be humble and courteous towards the person with whom you feel angry, especially if he has shown resentment in any way “

FROM OUR SHRINE'S OBLATE, ABBÉ RAYMOND SCHMIDT:

Dear Faithful,

As a Clerical Oblate of the Institute of Christ the King, my life of self oblation has a certain priestly character to it through the sacrament of Holy Orders. By God's grace, I received the first two orders of this splendid sacrament which now transforms the ordinary work that I do into a supernatural service within and outside the liturgy. As a porter, I imitate Christ in His zeal for the House of His Father just as when he would send the lepers to pray in the temple or cast out the money changers. As a lector, I imitate Christ who would always pronounce the prophecies of Himself from the Old Testament and open to the Apostles the sacred scriptures as on the road to Emmaus.

I am very grateful to each of you for your prayerful support and I humbly ask you to continue to pray that I may live up to the offices God has bestowed upon me in His goodness. Be assured of my prayers and sacrifices for each of you and may God bless you all!

From the ordination ceremony for Porters: "...The duty of the porter is to ring the bells, to open the church and sacristy, and to open the book for the preacher. Take good care, therefore, lest anything in the church perish through your negligence. Open the house of God to the faithful at the appointed hours, and always shut it to unbelievers. As you open and shut with material keys the visible church, let it also be your endeavor by your word and example to shut to the devil and open to God the invisible house of God, namely, the hearts of the faithful, that they may keep in mind the word of God which they have heard and carry it out in deed...."

From the ordination ceremony for Lectors: "...The Lector's duty is to read what is preached, to sing the lessons, to bless bread and all new fruits. Endeavor, therefore, to read the word of God, that is, the sacred lessons, distinctly and intelligibly, without any mistake or falsification, so that the faithful may understand and be edified, and that the truth of the divine lessons be not through your carelessness lost for the instruction of the hearers. But what you read with your lips, you must believe in your hearts and practice in your works; so that you may be able to teach your hearers by word and example...."

2022 Liturgical Calendar: Keeping the Faith in Charity

Our belief in God is the bedrock of our Faith, which is grounded in His Truth. And if we truly live our faith, it must be in His charity. In these difficult times, when men struggle with flagging hope and where faith seems to be questioned at each turn, our steadfast faith and generous charity can give example to the lost, gain graces and restore society for the glory of Christ our King.

This full-color 2022 Liturgical Calendar is a helpful guide for our daily lives as Catholics throughout the year. A true feast for the eyes, its pages not only mark the daily feasts and fasts of the liturgical year, but the beautiful photos lift our hearts and minds to the glory of the Church. Each month features an example of the members of the Institute of Christ the King Sovereign Priest embracing their motto, Veritatem Facientes in Caritate (Live the Truth in Charity). As we see them mark the seasons through glorious liturgy and charitable fraternity, we are encouraged to live with the same confident faith.

As we receive His grace through our perseverance in faith and charity and continue to conform our lives according to His holy will each day, Jesus Christ our King renews our souls and restores society to His reign.
