INSTITUTE OF CHRIST THE KING SOVEREIGN PRIEST

Let's be strong in our faith!

The Church is holy in her members: those publicly known—the canonized saints; those unknown, yet saints in heaven; and those holy people yet on earth—of both high and lowly station—who sacrifice and pray and devote their lives to doing God's will, spreading His word and sanctifying themselves with His Sacraments.

Remember that we are all called to be saints. Do not be disturbed by the unholy in the Church. They are here in fulfillment of prophecy. They are "the weeds among the wheat." Ultimately, they will be gathered into bundles to be burned.

Simply strive to be sure that you are counted among the wheat, rather than among the cockle to be bound into bundles and burned at the end of time. Ensure you are among the wheat, gathered into God's storehouse for all eternity: Know and keep the Faith. Know and keep the Commandments. Come frequently to Mass, to Confession, and to Holy Communion. Do good works for the love of God. Love your neighbor. Forgive--again and again!

"All, whatsoever you do, in word or in work ... all things do you in the name of the Lord Jesus Christ, giving thanks to God the Father, through Jesus Christ our Lord."

Canon Antoine Boucheron

Feast of the Apparition of the Blessed Virgin at Lourdes (February 11)

"I am the Immaculate Conception"

The many miracles which have been performed through the intercession of the Blessed Virgin at Lourdes prompted the Church to institute a special commemorative feast, the "Apparition of the Immaculate Virgin Mary." Four years after the promulgation of the dogma of the Immaculate Conception (1854), the Blessed Virgin appeared eighteen times between February 11 and July 16 to a very poor and holy girl named Bernadette. The actual spot was in a grotto, Massabielle, on the bank of the Gave River near Lourdes.

The Immaculate Conception had a youthful appearance and was clothed in a pure white gown and mantle, with an azure blue girdle. A golden rose adorned each of her bare feet. On her first apparition, February 11, 1858, the Blessed Virgin bade the girl make the sign of the Cross piously and say the rosary with her. Bernadette saw her take the rosary that was hanging from her arms into her hands. This was repeated in subsequent apparitions.

With childlike simplicity Bernadette once sprinkled holy water on the vision, fearing that it was a deception of the evil spirit; but the Blessed Virgin smiled pleasantly, and her face became even more lovely. The third time Mary appeared she invited the girl to come to the grotto daily for two weeks. Now she frequently spoke to Bernadette. On one occasion she ordered her to tell the ecclesiastical authorities to build a church on the spot and to organize processions. Bernadette also was told to drink and wash at the spring still hidden under the sand. Finally on the feast of the Annunciation, the beautiful Lady announced her name, "I am the Immaculate Conception."

The report of cures occurring at the grotto spread quickly and the more it spread, the greater the number of Christians who visited the hallowed place. The publicity given these miraculous events on the one hand and the seeming sincerity and innocence of the girl on the other made it necessary for the Bishop of Tarbes to institute a judicial inquiry. Four years later he declared the apparitions to be supernatural and permitted the public veneration of the Immaculate Conception in the grotto. Soon a chapel was erected, and since that time countless pilgrims come every year to Lourdes to fulfill promises or to beg graces. The message of Lourdes is a call to personal conversion, prayer, and charity.

St. Titus, Bishop & Confessor, February 6.

St. Titus was a convert from gentile heathenism, a disciple of St. Paul, one of the chosen companions of the Apostles in the journey to the Council of Jerusalem, and a fellow-laborer in many apostolic missions. From the Second Epistle which St. Paul sent by the hand of Titus to the Corinthians, we can gain insight into his character and understand the strong affection which his master bore toward him.

Titus, in 64 A.D., had been commissioned to carry out a twofold office needing much firmness, discretion, and charity. He was to be the bearer of a severe rebuke to the Corinthians, who were giving scandal and were wavering in their faith. At the same time, he was to put their charity to a further test by calling upon them to contribute abundant alms for the Church at Jerusalem. St. Paul meanwhile was anxiously awaiting the result. At Troas he writes, "I had no rest in my spirit, because I found not Titus, my brother." He set sail to Macedonia. Here at last Titus brought the good news; his success had been complete. He reported the sorrow, the zeal, the generosity of the Christians, till the Apostle could not contain his joy, and sent back to them his faithful messenger with a letter of comfort.

Titus finally settled in Crete, having been made bishop of the island – his brother-in-law was governor there – and here he received the epistle which bears his name. He died in peace in 107 A.D., in Gortyn, Crete.

His relics in the cathedral of Gortyn were burnt when the city was destroyed by the Saracens in 823. His head was then brought to Venice, and is kept in St. Mark's Cathedral.
