INSTITUTE OF CHRIST THE KING SOVEREIGN PRIEST

Do you hunger for the Lord?

A big crowd followed Jesus--five thousand men plus women and children. We notice how they followed Christ on foot, during the heat of the day, into the wilderness and without food. This is a very relevant lesson for us today particularly if we are tempted to miss Sunday Mass because the church is too far from our bed.

Jesus performed the miracle described in today's Gospel not because of a vain desire to be ostentatious but because of compassion for the people.

Why does the Gospel specify barley loaves? Loaves made from barley are a lowly bread, tough and rustic. This detail points out that Jesus can work with anything we give Him, no matter how unworthy it is. The point is not our personal value or the number of our talents; the point is to give freely our gifts for His glory. Remember the story of the widow and her two mites (which are small coins). Her donation didn't amount to much, but it was worthy because the offering came from her heart.

The miracle of the loaves and fishes foreshadows Holy Thursday when Jesus would institute the Mass and the Blessed Sacrament with His Real Presence under the appearances of bread and wine. The starving crowd following Jesus into the wilderness was fed and satisfied. We live spiritually through the reception of His Body and Blood in Holy Communion.

By the way, Communion is approaching. Do you hunger for the Lord?

St. Anne, July 26

Mother of the Virgin, Grandmother of the Savior

St. Anne was a human being, conceived and born, living and dying as every normal human does. But it is through her bond with her daughter, the Blessed Virgin, and with her Grandson, the Savior of the World, that is the reason for the reverence with which she is held throughout the Christian world. Her name in Hebrew means "grace."

There is little that sets her apart from ordinary people as with other honored saints; she did not suffer martyrdom or lead a life of great penance or sacrifice; she did not withdraw from the world or take vows of poverty, chastity, or obedience. She was a daughter, wife, mother, and grandmother in the natural sense under favorable conditions because her parents and husband were people of substantial means, holding valuable lands and flocks. St. Anne, through the sanctification of her normal everyday life proves that sanctification is possible in other everyday lives.

Even though she is not mentioned as being present at the Nativity, surely as the grandmother-to-be, she would have been anxious about her daughter and the travels the Holy Family undertook at such a delicate time, and eager to hear the news of the birth. (Imagine the wonderment and then the submission that followed when she learned of her daughter's role as Mother of the Messiah!) And how did she hear of the news of the birth of the Christ Child -- through the message of an angel or did she notice the light shining from the Star of the East? Did she learn of the slaughter of the Innocents? What about the intense anxiety she must have suffered when her daughter and Grandson were absent during the long Flight into Egypt? What a moment it must have been when the Holy Family returned to Nazareth and she finally held the Christ Child in her loving arms!

Just as in the case of many widowed grandmothers, her life must have centered around her child and Grandchild. Was it she who helped teach Him how to read? Did He spend time at His grandmother's? We have little in Holy Scripture about this but oral tradition and artistic representations of her life give us a good clue.

Tradition says her relics were brought to southern France by St. Lazarus. The relic of her head is kept in a church in the German Rhineland. She is patroness of Brittany where her miraculous picture is venerated at Notre Dame D'Auray. She is also the principle patroness of Quebec with a shrine at de Beaufre.

Who better to understand the anguish and petitions of daughters, wives, mothers, and grandmothers? ST. ANNE, PRAY FOR US.

Feast of St. James the Greater, July 25

St. James was the son of Zebedee, a Galilean fisherman, and Salome, a pious woman. He and his younger brother, St. John, were called as disciples just after Simon Peter and Andrew were called, and Peter, James and John are often mentioned together in Scripture.

He and his brother must have been quick to anger and zealous for they were called Sons of Thunder -- a nickname given to them by Jesus, Himself. After Our Lord's Ascension, tradition says that St. James's zeal for evangelizing took him to parts of Spain for a time, after which he returned to Judea for his martyrdom. In A.D. 44, Herod Agrippa I, the grandson of Herod the Great, "killed James, the brother of John, with the sword." (Acts 12:1-2).

James's relics were then translated to Spain. The Apostle's relics were entombed and rather forgotten after years of Roman persecution, Vandal and Visigoth invasions, and Muslim attacks -- until an early 9th century hermit named Pelayo discovered the tomb -- some say after seeing a star marking the place -- in an area that became known as Compostela, which means "Field of Stars." The King built a cathedral to mark the location.

The faithful began to make pilgrimages to the site, so much so that Compostela became the third greatest place of pilgrimage, just after Jerusalem and Rome, and still make the pilgrimage today. After making one of the many routes, known as "the Camino," pilgrims attach cockleshells or their facsimile to their hats or clothes as "pilgrim badges," signs that they've venerated the holy relics. Any year in which St. James's Day falls on a Sunday is called a Holy Year, and a plenary indulgence may be gained by making the pilgrimage (his Feast falls on a Sunday every 6, 5, 6, and 11 years). To gain the indulgence, one must fulfill the usual conditions of plenary indulgences, must intend the pilgrimage for spiritual purposes and must have made the last 63 miles (100 km) on foot or on horse, or the last 125 miles (200 km) on bicycle. In modern times, the pilgrimage has lost some of its spiritual nature and has become a cultural event.

A MESSAGE FROM AFRICA

Dear Faithful of St. Patrick's Oratory,

Thank you very much for your generosity in the collection benefiting our missions of Africa. The collection raised over $8,011 for our growing missions to help us continue bringing the reign of Christ to Gabon.

Thank you also for your American kindness and hospitality toward me.

I assure you of our prayers for you and your families from Africa, and I thank you all for yours.

May Christ our Infant King bless you and America.

In Christo Rege,
Canon Bertrand Bergerot

CONFRATERNITY OF CHRISTIAN MOTHERS

Are you looking for a way to save the souls of your children in this crazy world? Consider joining the Confraternity of Christian Mothers (CCM) at St. Patrick Oratory! We meet for Holy Mass with Canon's instructions, and prayers on first Saturdays. The main purpose of the CCM as stated in the Manual is:

"The Christian Mothers were approved by the Holy Father as a group who would pray together, sanctify themselves together, and discuss their family problems together. Then they were to go back into their homes and put Christ into the hearts of their husbands, children, and neighbors. This is the primarily spiritual group that the Holy Father spoke so glowingly of: 'Give me truly Christian Mothers and I will renew the face of the earth.'" Come to join us as we meet for the 9 a.m. Mass, Canon's spiritual instructions, and pray the official prayers together on Saturday, August 3 and discover the peace and joy of the Confraternity of Christian Mothers. To learn more, please visit our website:
