Dear Faithful,

A feeling of close intimacy and tenderness characterizes this Feast of the Holy Family. It is good for us to recall the home of Nazareth and the daily existence of those who lived there. We enter in the house: Jesus, the hidden King, is learning Joseph's trade. God to Whom the angels are subject was subject to Mary and Joseph. God subjected Himself to men!

Today the only words of Jesus teach us that God must always come first; He must hold the first place in our lives. Giving precedence to the rights of God does not imply that we neglect our duties toward our neighbor. From Nazareth to Calvary, Jesus gives us a challenging example of dedication and love.

Very truly yours,

Canon Benoît Jayr
