From the Chaplain's Desk

I hope that you have had a most restful and relaxing Christmas season! By now most of us have taken down our Christmas decorations, and we have resumed our daily routine, even though, liturgically, the Christmas season does not end until Candlemas on February 2. Our Oratory was indeed blessed this year in that our Christmas celebrations were serene and went very smoothly, thanks be to God; I am particularly grateful to have been able to taste some of the peace and joy of this Christmas season. Now that we have been energized afresh by our festive solemnities, it is time once again to continue to carry our crosses.

Among my prayer intentions at the beginning of this year, there are two in particular which I would like to entrust to your prayers. First of all, I pray that we may soon have another member of the Institute, an Oblate, to assist us here at the Oratory. I had expected to have some help last September, but, unfortunately, this did not work out as I had hoped.

Secondly, I would like us to pray for the speedy completion of the parking lot. This construction project began last September right after my move to the Five Wounds Church Rectory. Due to unexpected circumstances, neither the move nor the parking lot renovation could be carried out as easily as I had hoped.

We should pray constantly that God's will be done, but it requires a great deal of patience to persevere in trying circumstances. St. Francis de Sales said, "Do not limit your patience to this or that kind of trial, but extend it universally to whatever God may send, or allow to befall. And in your patience possess ye your souls."

In this year ahead, 2017, we will surely have many as yet unforeseen crosses. May God continue to sustain us and keep us in His loving hands.

Catechism Resources I

As we begin our series on the Catechism, it would, perhaps, be well to provide a brief description of some of the reliable catechetical materials available. This week, we will present some of the more basic materials which are suitable for both children and adults. Even though some of these materials are intended for children, they are also useful for adults who are in need of a brief refresher course as well as those who can find solace in a return to the Faith as they first encountered it. Although this is certainly not an exhaustive list, it is hoped that these materials will be found useful to those who desire to grow in knowing and loving the Catholic Faith.

The Baltimore Catechism St. Joseph Edition numbers 1 and 2 are readily available from online retailers and are carried in some Catholic bookstores as well. These books are extremely valuable in that they include illustrations and examples which can be applied to daily life. Even though they are used primarily in the instruction of children, they are useful to adults as well, particularly No. 2. The Baltimore Catechism No. 3 is also available in book form from online sources as well as in a cost-free format, also to be found online. It lacks the illustrations of the St. Joseph editions, but it has many helpful examples and explanations.

One of the best resources for catechetical instruction is My Catholic Faith, published by Sarto House, available from various online retailers. Also readily available are Trese's The Faith Explained and Martin's The Catholic Religion.
