Farewell Social—Today

For Abbé Christian Juneau

Abbé Juneau, the seminarian who has been with us during this past school year, will be leaving Tucson at the end of July. He will go to St. Louis to help with the ordinations and then will go to the choir camp in Kentucky. After his vacation, he will return to Gricigliano to continue his studies. Canon Avis is very grateful for all the help that Abbé Juneau has been during his stay.

There will be a farewell social for him at 12pm in the church basement on Sunday, July 22nd. There are spiritual bouquet forms in the back of the church for Abbé Juneau.

Canon Avis will be on vacation from July 16th to the 28th. Canon Joel Estrada will be filling in for him.

St. Francis de Sales thoughts for meditation:

Today I want to wish you one of the blessings accorded to Saint Mary Magdalene; not her ecstasies or extraordinary gifts, but imitating her by sitting at the feet of Jesus all the days of our life. Above all, I hope you have the courage to overcome the difficulties that impede you from God. Therefore, continually seek the Lord and do not give up until you have found Him. Seek Him out during this mortal life, not risen and glorious, but crucified and dead. Prepare your shoulders to carry the cross of the Crucified with love, and if the burden is heavy, console yourself, because courage and love will give you the strength. (Sermons 48; O. X, p. 96)

The Inclination Which God Has To Do Us Good

By Saint Francis de Sales

As soon as man thinks attentively on the Divinity, he perceives a certain sweet emotion of heart which testifies that God is the God of the human heart; and never does our understanding experience more pleasure than in this thought of the Divinity, the least knowledge of which, as the prince of the philosophers says, is more precious than the greatest of all things else : as the least ray of the sun is brighter than the brightest of the moon or of the stars, yea, is more luminous than the moon and stars together. And if any accident surprises our heart, immediately it has recourse to the Divinity, acknowledging ' that when the world looks dark, It alone is good, and when danger threatens, It alone can save and preserve.

This pleasure, this confidence, which the human heart naturally takes in God, can only proceed from the conformity that exists between the divine goodness and the soul. There is a great, but secret, resemblance between them — a resemblance that cannot be denied, yet cannot be understood. We are created to the image of God, we have a close connection with His Divine Majesty.

Besides this conformity, there is a constant interaction between God and man for their reciprocal perfection. Not that God can receive any perfection from man, but because as man can be perfected only by the divine goodness, so the divine goodness can nowhere out of itself be so well displayed as in regard to our humanity. The one has great need and capacity to receive, the other great abundance and inclination to bestow. Nothing is more suited to indigence than affluence, and the kinder affluence is the stronger its inclination to give. The more needy indigence is, the more eager it is to be satiated. The meeting then of affluence and indigence is sweet and happy ; and we could scarcely say which should enjoy the more contentment, abundance to be communicated, or deficiency to be filled, had not our Lord told us that it is a more blessed thing to give than to receive. But where there is more of happiness, there is more of satisfaction; the divine goodness, then, has greater pleasure in giving its graces, than we have in receiving them.

Thus our deficiency has need of the divine abundance through the misery of its dearth, but the divine affluence has no need of our indigence, unless through the perfection of its goodness: a goodness which, nevertheless, does not become better by being communicated, for it acquires nothing by expending itself; but our indigence would remain failing, if the abundance of the divine goodness did not succour it.

Has not our soul then — considering that nothing can perfectly content it, that its capacity cannot be filled by anything in this world, that its understanding has an infinite longing after more extensive knowledge, and its will an insatiable desire to find and love what is good — has it not reason to exclaim: Ah! I am not made for this world! There is sovereign good on which I depend, some infinite Creator who has placed within me this boundless desire of knowing and this hunger which cannot be satisfied. It is therefore necessary that I should tend forward and stretch out towards Him in order to be united to His goodness, to which I belong. Such is the conformity that we have with God.

Nineth Sunday after Pentecost

INTROIT: Ps. 53: 6,7,3 Behold, God is my helper, and the Lord is the protector of my soul: turn back the evils upon mine enemies, and cut them off in Thy truth, O Lord, my protector. (Ps) Save me, O God, by Thy name, and deliver me in Thy strength. Glory be. Behold, God is my helper...

COLLECT: Let Thy merciful ears, O Lord, be open to the prayers of Thy suppliant people: and that Thou mayest grant their desire to those that seek, make them ask such things as please Thee. Through our Lord.

EPISTLE: I Cor. 10: 6-13 Brethren: let us not covet evil things, as they also coveted. Neither become ye idolaters, as some of them: as it is written: The people sat down to eat and drink, and rose up to play. Neither let us commit fornication, as some of them committed fornication, and there fell in one day three and twenty thousand. Neither let us tempt Christ, as some of them tempted, and perished by the serpents. Neither do you murmur, as some of them murmured, and were destroyed by the destroyer. Now all these things happened to them in figure, and they are written for our correction, upon whom the ends of the world are come. Wherefore he that thinketh himself to stand, let him take heed lest he fall. Let no temptation take hold on you, but such as is human; and God is faithful, Who will not suffer you to be tempted above that which you are able, but will make also with temptation issue, that you may be able to bear it.

GRADUAL: Ps. 8: 2 O Lord, our Lord, how admirable is Thy name in the whole earth! For Thy magnificence is elevated above the heavens.

ALLELUIA: Ps. 58 2 Alleluia, alleluia. Deliver me from mine enemies, O my God: and defend me from them that rise up against me. Alleluia.

GOSPEL: Lk. 19: 41-47 At that time, when Jesus drew near to Jerusalem, seeing the city, He wept over it saying: If thou also hadst known, and that in this thy day, the things that are to thy peace: but now they are hidden from thine eyes. For the days shall come upon thee, and thine enemies shall cast a trench about thee, and compass thee round, and straiten thee on every side; and beat thee flat to the ground, and thy children who are in thee; and they shall not leave in thee a stone upon a stone, because thou hast not known the time of thy visitation. And entering into the temple, He began to cast out them that sold therein, and them that bought, saying to them: It is written, My house is the house of prayer, but you have made it a den of thieves. And He was teaching daily in the temple.

OFFERTORY: Ps. 18: 9-12 The justices of the Lord are right, rejoicing hearts, and His judgments sweeter than honey and the honeycomb; for Thy servant keepeth them.

SECRET: Grant to us, we beseech Thee, O Lord, that we may worthily frequent these mysteries: for as often as the memorial of this Victim is celebrated, the work of our Redemption is wrought. Through our Lord.

COMMUNION: Jn. 6: 57 He that eateth My Flesh, and drinketh My Blood, abideth in Me, and I in him, saith the Lord.

POSTCOMMUNION: May the communion of Thy Sacrament, we beseech Thee, O Lord, bring us cleansing and grant us unity. Through our Lord.

*We therefore pray
Thee, help Thy servants: whom Thou hast redeemed with Thy Precious Blood!*
