QUINQUAGESIMA SUNDAY

Introit: Ps. 30, 3. 4. Be my rock of refuge, O God, a stronghold to give me safety. You are my rock and my fortress; for Your name's sake You will lead and guide me.

Ps. 30, 2. In You, O Lord, I take refuge; let me never be put to shame. In Your justice rescue me and deliver me.

Prayer: We beseech You, O Lord, graciously hear our prayers; and having freed us from the bonds of our sins, guard us from all adversity.

Epistle: 1 Cor. 13, 1-13. Brethren: If I should speak with the tongues of men and of angels, but do not have charity, I have become as sounding brass or a tinkling cymbal. And if I have prophecy and know all mysteries and all knowledge, and if I have all faith so as to remove mountains, yet do not have charity, I am nothing. And if I distribute all my goods to feed the poor, and if I deliver my body to be burned, yet do not have charity, it profits me nothing. Charity is patient, is kind; charity does not envy, is not pretentious, is not puffed up, is not ambitious, is not self-seeking, is not provoked; thinks no evil, does not rejoice over wickedness, but rejoices with the truth; bears with all things, believes all things, hopes all things, endures all things. Charity never fails, whereas prophecies will disappear, and tongues will cease, and knowledge will be destroyed. For we know in part and we prophesy in part; but when that which is perfect has come, that which is imperfect will be done away with. When I was a child, I spoke as a child, I felt as a child, I thought as a child. Now that I have become a man, I have put away the things of a child. We see now through a mirror in an obscure manner, but then face to face. Now I know in part, but then I shall know even as I have been known. So there abide faith, hope and charity, these three; but the greatest of these is charity.

Gradual Ps. 76, 15. 16. You are the God Who alone works wonders; among the peoples You have made known Your power. V. With Your strong arm You delivered Your people, the sons of Israel and Joseph.

Tract: Ps. 99, 1-2. Sing joyfully to God, all you lands; serve the Lord with gladness. V. Come before Him with joyful song; know that the Lord is God. V. He made us, His we are; His people, the flock He tends.

Gospel: Luke 18, 31-43. At that time, Jesus taking to Himself the Twelve said to them, "Behold, we are going up to Jerusalem, and all things that have been written by the prophets concerning the Son of Man will be accomplished. For He will be delivered to the Gentiles, and will be mocked and scourged and spit upon; and after they have scourged Him, they will put Him to death; and on the third day He will rise again." And they understood none of these things and this saying was hidden from them, neither did they get to know the things that were being said. Now it came to pass as He drew near to Jericho, that a certain blind man was sitting by the wayside, begging; but hearing a crowd passing by, he inquired what this might be. And they told him that Jesus of Nazareth was passing by. And he cried out, saying, "Jesus, Son of David, have mercy on me!" And they who went in front angrily tried to silence

ASH WEDNESDAY

Yesterday, the world was busy in its pleasures, and the very children of God were taking a joyous farewell to mirth: but this morning, all is changed. The solemn announcement, spoken of by the prophet, has been proclaimed in Sion: the solemn fast of Lent, the season of expiation, the approach of the great anniversaries of our Redemption. Let us, then, rouse ourselves, and prepare for the spiritual combat.

But in this battling of the spirit against the flesh we need good armour. Our Holy Mother the Church knows how much we need it; and therefore does She summon us to enter into the house of God that she may arm us for the holy contest. What this armour is we know from Saint Paul, who thus describes it: 'Have your loins girt about with truth, and having on the breastplate of justice. And your feet shod with the preparation of the Gospel of peace. In all things taking the shield of faith. Take unto you the helmet of salvation, and the sword of the Spirit, which is the word of God' (Eph. 6, 14-17). The very prince of the Apostles, too, addresses these solemn words to us: 'Christ having suffered in the flesh, be ye also armed with the same thought' (I Peter, 4, 1). We are entering today, upon the long campaign of the warfare spoken of by the Apostles: Forty days of battles, forty days of penance. We shall not turn cowards, if our souls can but be impressed with the conviction that the battle and the penance must be gone through. Let us listen to the eloquence of the solemn rite which opens our Lent. Let us go whither our Mother leads us, that is, to the scene of the fall.

The enemies we have to fight with, are of two kinds: internal, and external. The first are our passions; the second are the devils. Both were brought on us by pride, and man's pride began when he refused to obey his God. God forgave him his sin, but He punished him. The punishment was death, and this was the form of the divine sentence: 'Thou art dust, and into dust thou shall return' (Gen. 3, 19) Oh that we had remembered this! The recollection of what we are and what we are to be, would have checked that haughty rebellion, which has so often led us to break the law of God. And if for the time to come, we would persevere in the loyalty to Him, we must humble ourselves, accept the sentence, and look on this present life as a path to the grave. The path may be long or short; but to the tomb it must lead us. Remembering this we shall see all things in their true light. We shall love that God, who has deigned to set His heart on us notwithstanding our being creatures of death: we shall hate with deepest contrition the insolence and ingratitude wherewith we have spent so many of our few days of life, that is, in sinning against our heavenly Father: and we shall be not only willing but eager, to go through these days of penance, which He so mercifully gives us for making reparation to His offended justice.

This was the motive the Church had in enriching today's liturgy with the solemn rite that, while signing the forehead of her children with ashes, she repeats to them those awful words, wherewith God sentenced us to death: 'Remember, oh man, that thou art dust, and into dust thou shall return!' (Taken from The Liturgical Year of Dom Prosper Gueranger, O. S. B.)

him. But he cried out all the louder, "Son of David, have mercy on me!" Then Jesus stopped and commanded that he should be brought to Him. And when he drew near, He asked him, saying, "What would you have Me do for you?" And he said, "Lord, that I may see." And Jesus said to him, "Receive your sight, your faith has saved you." And at once he received his sight, and followed Him, glorifying God. And all the people upon seeing it gave praise to God.

Offertory: Ps. 118, 12-13. Blessed are You, O Lord; teach me Your statutes. With my lips I declare all the ordinances of Your mouth.

Secret: May this offering, we beseech You, O Lord, cleanse away our sins, and sanctify the bodies and minds of Your servants for the celebration of this sacrifice.

Communion: Ps. 77, 29-30. They ate and were wholly surfeited; the Lord had brought them what they craved: they were not defrauded of that which they craved.

Postcommunion: We beseech You, almighty God, that we who have received celestial food, may be defended by it against all adversities.

NOVENA TO SAINT JOSEPH (by Pope Leo XIII)

To you, O blessed Joseph, do we come in our tribulation, and having implored the help of your most holy spouse, we confidently invoke your patronage also.

Through that charity which bound you to the Immaculate Virgin Mother of God and through the paternal love with which you embraced the Child Jesus, we humbly beg you graciously to regard the inheritance which Jesus Christ has purchased by his Blood, and with your power and strength to aid us in our necessities.

O most watchful Guardian of the Holy Family, defend the chosen children of Jesus Christ;
 O most loving father, ward off from us every contagion of error and corrupting influence;
 O our most mighty protector, be propitious to us and from heaven assist us in our struggle with the power of darkness; and, as once you rescued the Child Jesus from deadly peril, so now protect God's Holy Church from the snares of the enemy and from all adversity; shield, too, each one of us by your constant protection, so that, supported by your example and your aid, we may be able to live piously, to die holily, and to obtain eternal happiness in heaven. Amen.
