ORATORY CLERGY

The Reverend Canon Antoine Boucheron
Rector

INSTITUTE OF CHRIST THE KING SOVEREIGN PRIEST

Why is Jesus so submissive in His Passion?

There is only one reason: Love. Love for the Father and love for mankind, whom He wants to reconcile with the Father. Only infinite love can explain the sufferings and humiliation accepted by Jesus. While His divinity hides itself, and almost seems to abandon Him, Jesus who is both human and divine, suffers in His human nature. Doing so, Jesus has given meaning to human suffering, He has made it meritorious: if accepted for the love of God and offered up for the salvation of the world.

Jesus is the innocent victim, and He attains the high point of His mission into the world when it is His hour for which He longed. As we look at Jesus on the cross we confront the mystery of suffering and death and the paradox that suffering with Jesus leads to glory and happiness. Our task now is to follow Him during Holy Week. He says, "If you wish to be my disciple, take up your cross daily and follow me." These words are addressed to you and me.

In the Acts of the Apostles (5:41) it is said that the Apostles rejoiced that they could suffer something for Jesus. They found joy in their sufferings because they saw meaning in it. They were sharing in the sufferings of Christ and had hope of eternal salvation.

So during this Passiontide, let us imitate them!

Canon Antoine Boucheron

Holy Week Liturgy Announcement

In 2018 permission was received from the Pontifical Commission Ecclesia Dei in Rome to celebrate the Liturgy of Holy Week according to the liturgical norms in use before changes were made mid-20th century. All the apostolates of the Institute of Christ the King are included with other Ecclesia Dei communities in this indult.

This older form of the Ritual and its prayers offer a spirituality that is especially rich and edifying in total conformity with the spirit of the Roman Missal.

For the benefit of the faithful, booklets with English translations and explanations are available at the entrance to the church. These booklets will be used on Palm Sunday, Holy Thursday, Good Friday and the Easter Vigil.

Passiontide

During Passiontide, starting on Passion Sunday and ending on Good Friday, you will notice purple cloths draped over the crucifixes, statues and images of saints in the church.

The custom of veiling religious images is a way of focusing on the penitential aspect of this liturgical season. It reminds us in a visual way that our faith in all its glory is made possible only through the work of Christ in his suffering and death on the cross.

When we cover these holy and sacred images that we are so accustomed to, we are confronted and reminded in a poignant way of all that Christ has won for us.

Then, as in a dramatic unveiling, the holy images are again revealed for the Easter Vigil to mark the end of the penitential season. The joy of the Easter season and the hope of the Resurrection then comes to the forefront.

Temporarily veiling the crosses and religious images in the penitential color of Lent is a beautiful custom that helps us to reflect on the deeper theological meaning of the liturgical season.

- CRUCIFIXES & IMAGES VEILED: Passion Sunday
- CRUCIFIXES REVEALED: Good Friday
(to emphasize Jesus' death on the Cross on that day)
- IMAGES & STATUES REVEALED: Easter Vigil
(the evening of Holy Saturday)
- WHY: In covering the religious images during the height of Lent, all attention is centered on the Passion and death of Christ. This is why the only images NOT to be covered are the Stations of the Cross.

Just as the Church simplifies the sanctuary in these last weeks of Lent in order to focus on the penitential aspect of the season, we can also simplify our homes in creative ways by draping purple clothes over our crucifixes and other holy images. It reminds us that Jesus hid his glory during his Passion, so too we hide away our religious items in order to prepare ourselves to focus on and honor his Passion.
