INSTITUTE OF CHRIST THE KING SOVEREIGN PRIEST

“For he who exalts himself shall be humbled, and he who humbles himself shall be exalted.”

The question for each of us here today is the same: will I keep living my life trying to get to the top, assuming that I am worthy of or I deserve to be a success in this world as the world understands success, or will I use the grace that God so generously gives me in the Sacraments to forget myself and live close to the ground so that we love others generously and really: and therefore be surprised and happy when we hear those words: my friend, come up to a higher place.

Have a blessed Sunday!

Canon Antoine Boucheron

SAINT MATTHEW

PRAY FOR US

Thursday, September 21
8:00 a.m. Mass

St. Matthew

St. Matthew the Apostle (1st c.) was a Jew who also went by the name of Levi. He was from Galilee and served in Capernaum as a tax collector for Herod Antipas before becoming a disciple of Jesus. It was in the home of St. Matthew that Jesus dined with the "sinners and tax collectors." Under Jesus' influence St. Matthew was led to repentance for the evil he had done as a tax-collector, a position despised by his fellow Jews. He repaid those he cheated four-fold, sold all his possessions, and followed Christ as one of the twelve Apostles. St. Matthew preached among the Jews for fifteen years following the Resurrection and Ascension of Jesus. He is the author of the Gospel that bears his name, which he wrote to convince the Jews that Jesus Christ was the Messiah promised to Israel. According to tradition, St. Matthew the Apostle brought the Gospel to Syria, Media, Persia, Parthia, and finished his preaching in Ethiopia with a martyr's death. He is the patron of guards, bankers, accountants, security forces, and stock brokers. His feast day is September 21st.

The Ember Days of the Liturgical Cycle

Four times a year, the Church sets aside three days to focus on God through His marvelous creation. These quarterly periods take place around the beginnings of the four natural seasons. These four times are each kept on a successive Wednesday, Friday, and Saturday and are known as "Ember Days," or Quatuor Tempora, in Latin. The first of these four times comes in Winter, after the Feast of St. Lucy; the second comes in Spring, the week after Ash Wednesday; the third comes in Summer, after Pentecost Sunday; and the last comes in Autumn, after the feast of the Exaltation of the Holy Cross.

These times are spent fasting and partially abstaining (voluntary since the new Code of Canon Law) in penance and with the intentions of thanking God for the gifts He gives us in nature, and beseeching Him for the discipline to use them in moderation. The fasts, known as Jejunia quatuor temporum, or "the fast of the four seasons," are rooted in Old Testament practices of fasting four times a year.

A 13th century Dominican, Blessed Jacopo de Voragine, Archbishop of Genoa, gives us reasons to fast during the Ember Days:

Then let us fast in March which is printemps (spring) for to repress the heat of the flesh boiling, and to quench luxury or to temper it. In summer we ought to fast to the end that we chastise the burning and ardour of avarice. In harvest for to repress the drought of pride, and in winter for to chastise the coldness of untruth and of malice.

For these fastings here begin in March in the first week of the Lent, to the end that vices wax dry in us, for they may not all be quenched; or because that we cast them away, and the boughs and herbs of virtues may grow in us. And in summer also, in the Whitsun week, for then cometh the Holy Ghost, and therefore we ought to be fervent and esprised in the love of the Holy Ghost. They be fasted also in September before Michaelmas, and these be the ibird fastings, because that in this time the fruits be gathered and we should render to God the fruits of good works. In December they be also, and they be the fourth fastings, and in this time the herbs die, and we ought to be mortified to the world.

Ember Days are days favored for priestly ordinations, prayer for priests, first Communions, almsgiving and other penitential and charitable acts, and prayer for the souls in Purgatory.
